

Republic of Iceland

Jon Marvin Jonsson,
Honorary Consul General

Address: 5610 20th Ave. NW, Seattle, WA 98107

Phone: (206) 783-4100

Fax : (206) 784-8916

Email : JMJ@JonssonLaw.com

About Consul General Jonsson

Jon Marvin Jonsson was appointed honorary consul by the government of Iceland in January of 1968. In 1990, he was promoted to honorary consul general.

Mr. Jonsson is a graduate of the University of Washington and received a bachelor's degree in economics and business administration in 1952. In 1954, Mr. Jonsson graduated with a juris doctorate degree from the University of Washington School of Law. Mr. Jonsson also served one term as a state representative (Democrat) in the 44th district of the state of Washington. Mr. Jonsson is currently a member of The Jonsson Law Firm, PLLC.

About Iceland

Location: Northern Europe, island between the Greenland Sea and the North Atlantic Ocean, northwest of the UK

Size: 39,769 square miles (slightly larger than Arizona)

Population: 315,281 (July 2013 est.)

Major Industries: fish processing; aluminum smelting, ferrosilicon production; geothermal power, hydropower, tourism

Iceland is well known for its natural features including glaciers, hot springs, geysers, active volcanoes, portentous peaks, and vast lava. It is truly a marvel of Mother Nature's work. Here you find one of the oldest forms of European government, the Althing. Combined with its rich history and folklore tradition, the nation fosters a wonderful desire for Icelanders to share their culture.

Embassy of Iceland

<http://www.iceland.org/us>